

The International Dyslexia Association is excited to announce that we are revamping our Youth Art Gallery and the way we showcase this wonderful artwork. Instead of having a physical gallery once a year at our annual conference, we now have a digital gallery on our website year-round, and we feature artwork on our social media accounts.

Student artwork will still be considered for the cover of our Perspectives on Language and Literacy magazine (see a few examples here: <https://dyslexiaida.org/perspectives/>) and other print publications from time to time.

We do not have any specifications for artwork genre, however, pieces that relate to our Perspectives themes (see below) are more likely to be selected for the cover.

All artwork must be submitted digitally. We accept submissions throughout the year but if you would like to submit a piece on a particular theme, please see the target dates in bold below.

Upcoming issue themes: What does that theme mean to you?

2018

- Summer: Early Literacy and Identification (May 20, 2018)
- Fall: Implementation (August 15, 2018)

2019

- Winter: Update on dyslexia research and what it means for the classroom (November 20, 2018)
- Spring: Controversial therapies (TBD)
- Summer: Teacher prep/Accreditation/Certification (TBD)
- Fall: Technology (TBD)

The Youth Art Gallery participation waiver follows. Please let me know if you have any questions or if I can assist you with anything else.

Sincerely,
Meg
